::ahhhh!::

Okay.

Back to work.

Lots of good things happening in my little part of the world, with plenty of delighted garden and art lovers in the mix.

Since May, with help from a small army of skilled people, we've planted thousands of perennials, annuals, trees, and shrubs, created a host of new and redesigned outdoor spaces, installed sculpture in three juried exhibitions (two are open now - see below!), and are working to complete some substantial new pieces -- a six foot version of my original "Pear," and, "Patricia's Carrots," a four foot pair of intertwined roots.
